Case: Proposed Cranston - Rowan Transmission Line

COMMENTS:

1. Certain alternative routes were not given adequate consideration. This was a predetermined done deal with the Forest Service failing to advocate for the protection of the forest.

2. The National Trail Systems Act was not considered by the Forest Service. This project is incompatible with the purpose for which the Shelburne Trace National Recreation Trail was established.

3. The same value is not applied for public land that was applied for private land. The Forest Service should advocate for the forest rather than for projects that will cause harm.

4. The Forest Service did not follow Kentucky Law - see KR 5278.020
